FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

DocuMatix Records 524% Growth Rate Between Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003

DocuMatix, an on-line marketing provider focused within the credit union industry and based in Salt Lake City, Utah, today announced that it has grown 524%, between the fiscal years of 2002 and 2003. DocuMatix, which is dedicated to a direct "listening" and pro-active approach to customer needs, and translating those needs into direct technology solutions attributes its growth to several factors. Strategic partner relationships, and responding timely to customer demands has created feature rich solutions that address business needs with sound technology. These factors, combined with competitively priced products have created many new customers while increasing value to help maintain existing customers.

"We are very excited and proud of the customer relationships we have established. We have many plans for continued growth, and look to build further brand loyalty and continued trust. In a time of downsizing and budget cuts we are very excited of where we are today, and the continued value that we look to bring in the future. Listening to our customers and delivering sound technology to address their needs will continue to remain our focus," said Paul Jaramillo, Chief Operations Officer of DocuMatix.

The DocuMatix Product Suite has evolved to include many high-end features without the high-end price tag. The application and service allows for real-time reporting across multiple modules and provides solutions that help deliver professional email and survey campaigns. The intuitive and easy-to-use tools enable marketing departments to communicate effectively with their members while working independently of IT and MIS departments.
